

The Master of Music, Music Education – Conducting Specialization

is designed for current middle school and high school choir, band, and orchestra directors who seek to further their personal knowledge and conducting skills while earning a master's degree, completing their course work online throughout the school year and during three summers on campus. The two-week summer conducting seminar (four credits each summer) includes daily conducting opportunities in all three disciplines with a workshop orchestra, band and choir, providing further hands-on training. All participants learn to conduct in all three disciplines. In addition, each student takes additional courses offered on campus during the summer or online during the school year.

Picture yourself spending two weeks in the Rocky Mountain region at the exquisite University Center for the Arts. Stretch yourself as a musician while your teaching reaches new heights; thrive in a supportive, fun, and collegial atmosphere. Most participants teach full-time during the school year, gaining experience while working on their graduate degree.
